

BAPS-IPDC-WORKBOOK-ITMBU-ED-1

Workbook 1

Topic: Vaisvik Ekta, Samp and Seva

A 30-page student workbook for reflection, classroom discussion, and personal practice.

Global unity circle

Name: _____ Class: _____ Date: _____

2. How to Use This Workbook

Values become strong when understanding becomes action.

Purpose

This workbook helps students understand three connected values: Vaisvik Ekta, Samp, and Seva. Read each short lesson, discuss honestly, and complete the reflection tasks with sincerity.

Learning Method

Each page includes a concept, a classroom connection, and an action step. The aim is not only to know the words, but to practise them in daily life.

Workbook Activity

Write one personal goal for this workbook.

line

3. Key Words

Vaisvik Ekta

Vaisvik Ekta means global unity: seeing all people as part of one human family while respecting different languages, cultures, and traditions.

Samp

Samp means harmony, togetherness, and unity in thought, speech, and action. It asks us to reduce ego and build trust.

Seva

Seva means selfless service. It is helping without expecting reward, recognition, or control.

Workbook Activity

In your own words, define each value in one sentence.

line

4. Vaisvik Ekta: One Human Family

Image 1: Students around the earth as one human family.

Concept

Global unity begins with the thought that every person has dignity. We may differ in dress, food, language, or habits, but we share the same need for respect, peace, and belonging.

Classroom Connection

A class becomes a small model of the world. When students include someone who is quiet, new, or different, they practise global unity in a real way.

Workbook Activity

List three ways your class can show global unity this week.

line

5. Seeing Beyond Labels

Reflection

Labels can be useful, but they can also limit how we see people. Vaisvik Ekta teaches us to look beyond labels and notice character, effort, and inner goodness.

Practice

Before judging someone, pause and ask: What do I not know about their story? This question opens the door to empathy.

Workbook Activity

Write about a time when you changed your opinion after understanding someone better.

line

6. Samp: The Bridge of Harmony

Image 2: The bridge stones of samp.

Concept

Samp is not silence. It is the courage to speak truth with respect and the maturity to listen without anger.

Four Bridge Stones

A strong bridge of samp is built with listening, respect, forgiveness, and teamwork. If one stone is missing, relationships become weak.

Workbook Activity

Which bridge stone is strongest in you? Which one needs practice?

line

7. Harmony in Speech

Think Before Speaking

Words can repair or damage trust. A samp-filled sentence is truthful, kind, necessary, and timed well.

Sentence Practice

Instead of saying, 'You never help,' say, 'Can we divide this task more fairly?' The second sentence solves the problem without attacking the person.

Workbook Activity

Rewrite three harsh sentences into samp-filled sentences.

line

8. Seva: Service With a Pure Heart

Image 3: Seva through food, books, water, and care.

Selfless service turns ordinary moments into meaningful moments.

Concept

Seva is not only a big project. It can be a small act done with a pure heart: helping a friend understand homework, cleaning a shared space, or caring for someone who is tired.

Inner Attitude

True seva asks: What is needed? How can I help? Can I serve without making myself the centre?

Workbook Activity

Describe one small seva you can do at home and one at school.

line

9. Why These Three Values Belong Together

Connection

Vaisvik Ekta gives us the vision: everyone belongs. Samp gives us the method: live in harmony. Seva gives us the action: help others with humility.

Example

If a class wants to serve a community, it first needs unity of vision, harmony in planning, and selfless effort in execution.

Workbook Activity

Complete this chain: When I believe everyone belongs, I will...

line

10. The Value Tree

Image 4: A value tree with roots and branches.

Roots and Fruits

Good actions grow from deep roots. Humility, faith, discipline, and respect are roots. Unity, harmony, compassion, and service are fruits.

Personal Growth

A tree grows slowly but steadily. In the same way, values grow through repeated practice, not one-time excitement.

Workbook Activity

Draw or write your own value tree: roots, trunk, branches, and fruits.

line

11. Listening Circle

Image 5: A classroom circle for respectful discussion.

Skill

A listening circle is a simple method: one person speaks, others listen, and nobody interrupts. After the speaker finishes, classmates may ask respectful questions.

Why It Works

Listening circles reduce misunderstanding because everyone gets space to be heard. They also train patience and empathy.

Workbook Activity

In a group, discuss: What makes students feel included?

line

12. Empathy Practice

Definition

Empathy means trying to understand another person's feelings and situation. It does not mean we agree with everything, but it means we care enough to understand.

Practice Step

Use the sentence: 'I can see that you felt ____ because ____.' This helps another person feel heard.

Workbook Activity

Fill in the empathy sentence for two school situations.

line

13. Seva From Local to Global

Image 6: Seva expanding from home to the world.

Scope

Seva begins nearby, but its spirit can reach the whole world. A clean classroom, a helped neighbour, a campus drive, or a relief project all carry the same spirit.

Responsibility

Global unity becomes real when people take responsibility for needs beyond their own comfort.

Workbook Activity

Mark one need at home, on campus, in the city, and in the world.

line

14. Conflict to Samp

Image 7: A simple path from conflict to samp.

Conflict

Conflict is natural when people work together. The question is whether conflict makes us bitter or wiser.

Path

Pause before reacting. Listen to the other side. Understand the need behind the words. Then unite around the shared goal.

Workbook Activity

Choose one conflict and map it through Pause, Listen, Understand, Unite.

line

15. Ego Check

Self-Questioning

Many problems grow when ego becomes bigger than the mission. A useful question is: Am I trying to solve the problem, or only trying to prove I am right?

Humility

Humility does not make a person weak. It makes teamwork possible.

Workbook Activity

Write three signs that ego is entering a discussion.

line

16. Daily Practice Wheel

Image 8: A wheel of daily value habits.

Small Habits

Values become strong through daily habits. Greet people warmly, share credit, serve quietly, reflect honestly, forgive quickly, and thank sincerely.

Challenge

Choose one habit for the next seven days. Track your effort each evening.

Workbook Activity

Select one daily habit and write how you will practise it.

line

17. Case Study: The Group Assignment

Situation

Four students must submit a project. Two want to lead, one feels ignored, and one has not completed their part.

Apply Values

Vaisvik Ekta reminds them that each member matters. Samp helps them speak calmly. Seva encourages each person to ask, 'What can I contribute now?'

Workbook Activity

What should the group do in the next 15 minutes?

line

18. Planning a Seva Project

Image 9: Students planning a seva project.

Project Steps

A seva project needs a real need, a clear plan, shared roles, a respectful attitude, and reflection after completion.

Team Spirit

The best project is not the one with the most praise. It is the one that genuinely helps and makes the team more united.

Workbook Activity

Write a project idea with need, team roles, materials, and timeline.

line

19. Seva Project Template

Use This Template

Complete the boxes before starting your project. Keep the plan simple, realistic, and respectful.

Need we will serve	Who will benefit	Why it matters
Team roles	Materials needed	Date and place

20. Reflection After Service

After Action

Reflection turns activity into learning. After seva, ask what went well, what could improve, who was helped, and how the team changed.

Gratitude

Thank the people who allowed you to serve, the team members who helped, and the mentors who guided you.

Workbook Activity

Write one lesson from service that you want to remember.

line

21. Role Models of Unity and Service

Observation

A role model is not only famous. A role model can be a parent, teacher, friend, volunteer, or classmate who quietly lives these values.

Study Method

Notice the person's action, attitude, and consistency. Then choose one quality to practise yourself.

Workbook Activity

Name a role model and describe one value you see in them.

line

22. Communication Lab

Three Tools

Use 'I' statements, ask clarifying questions, and summarise what you heard before replying. These tools protect samp in difficult conversations.

Practice

When emotions are high, speak slower and softer. A calm tone can keep the discussion open.

Workbook Activity

Write a dialogue where two students solve a disagreement peacefully.

line

23. Inclusion Audit

Audit

An inclusion audit checks whether everyone gets a fair chance to join, speak, lead, and feel respected.

Action

Do not wait for excluded students to ask for help. Invite them with warmth and dignity.

Workbook Activity

Rate your class from 1 to 5 on inclusion. Give one improvement idea.

line

24. My Weekly Tracker

Tracker

Track your actions for one week. Be honest. The tracker is not for showing off; it is for becoming aware.

Day	Ekta action	Samp action	Seva action
Mon
Tue
Wed
Thu
Fri
Sat
Sun

25. Quiz: Concepts

Answer Briefly

Use your own words. Focus on meaning and practical application.

Workbook Activity

1. What is Vaisvik Ekta?
2. What are four bridge stones of Samp?
3. Why should Seva be done without expectation?
4. How can conflict become a chance for growth?

line

26. Scenario Practice

Choose the Best Response

For each scenario, write a response that shows unity, harmony, and service.

Workbook Activity

A new student sits alone.

Your team member made a mistake.

A campus area is dirty after an event.

Two friends are not talking to each other.

line

27. Personal Action Plan

Plan

A good plan is clear enough to start today. Choose one action for each value and one person who can support you.

Workbook Activity

My action for Vaisvik Ekta:

My action for Samp:

My action for Seva:

line

28. Group Pledge

Image 10: A pledge card for unity, harmony, and service.

Together

A pledge becomes powerful when a group supports one another. Read the pledge aloud and discuss what it will look like in real behaviour.

Workbook Activity

As a group, write five promises for a more united and service-minded class.

line

29. Final Reflection

Look Back

Review your answers from the workbook. Circle one idea that changed your thinking and one action that changed your behaviour.

Look Forward

Values education is successful when it continues after the workbook closes. Choose one practice to continue for the next month.

Workbook Activity

The biggest lesson I learned is...

The value I need most now is...

The action I will continue is...

line

30. Completion Page

May my thoughts support unity, my words support harmony, and my actions support service.

Student Statement

I have studied Vaisvik Ekta, Samp, and Seva. I understand that unity, harmony, and selfless service must be practised in thoughts, words, and actions.
